Fine Weather For Annual Dominion Day Celebration

Champion Wins Baseball Tournament; Vulcan Ladies Win Softball Event

The weatherman smiled on Tuesday and the nicest day of this year favored the Elks annual Dominion Day celebration. A larger crowd than last year was in attendance.

The main feature of the day was a baseball tournament between the four teams of the Wheatbelt League—Champion, Carmangay, Barons and Vulcan—and the Champion club outclassed the other teams to be an easy winner of the tourney.

Champion defeated Vulcan 11 to 5 in the first game. Batteries were: Vulcan, Fulton and Spaeth; Champion, Siler and Rhodes. Matlock caught for Vulcan the last two innings when Spaeth was injured. Carmangay defeated Barons 7 to 4 in the second game. Johnston and Chelton to Long was the Carmangay battery and L. Saffie and A. Saffie to Sherwood formed the Barons battery.

The final game saw the high-flying Champion club walk over Carmangay by a 20 to 3 score. Champion pitchers were Siler and Smith, with Rhodes, Hagg and Siler taking turns in catching duties.

Stan Bernard of Kirkcaldy umpired.

In the ladies' softball tournament, Vulcan defeated Nanton and Carmangay beat Alton. The final game saw Vulcan defeat Carmangay. A softball game between the Kirkcaldy Kittens and the Vulcan Lions was won by Vulcan.

A full program of sports for the kiddies was run off in the afternoon and a well attended dance in the I.O.O.F. hall at night concluded the Dominion Day celebration.

Shower

Honoring Miss Ruth Nafziger, a bride of the month, members of the Sunshine Social Club held a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. E. N. Rushfeldt recently. Some 40 neighbors and friends gathered to present the popular bride-elect with many lovely gifts for her new home.

A pleasant social hour in which interesting games and contests were enjoyed was followed by the little Misses Donna and Deanna Rushfeldt bringing in a daintily decorated basket piled with beautiful and useful presents. Mrs. Cutforth, on behalf of those assembled expressed the good wishes of all for many years of happiness. Mrs. Nafziger assisted her daughter in opening the attractively wrapped gifts, which were passed around the room. Ruth very suitably thanked her friends and extended them an invitation to visit her at any time they were near Olds.

The ladies served a delicious lunch, which brought to a close a most pleasant afternoon.

Nafziger of Vulcan, became the bride of Vern Dye, only son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Dye of Olds. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. L. Laing.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a beautiful floor-length gown of white satin. She wore a finger-tip veil and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Miss Vera Dye, youngest sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid and wore a floor-length gown of pink sheer with hat to match. She carried a bouquet of carnations. The groom was attended by the bride's brother, Andrew Nafziger. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Esther Gilbert and during the signing of the register Mr. Cyril Hutchinson sang "Together." The ushers were Alasdair Gilbert and Vincent Bittle.

A reception for 35 guests was held in the Lower Sky Room, and the bride's mother, who was attired in navy blue, assisted in receiving the guests. The bride's table was decorated with pink and white streamers, tall white tapers and sweet peas, centred by a three-tiered wedding cake.

Upon their return the couple will make their home at Olds.

Abernethy, Mossleigh, became the bride of James Oliver, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Tuttle, Vulcan. Rev. Bainbridge officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride entered the church to the strains of the Wedding March. The ceremony was performed before a flower-decked altar.

The youthful bride was lovely in a soft rose afternoon gown, with which she wore black accessories. Her corsage was of American Beauty roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Daub, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, attended the young couple, as matron of honor and best man. Mrs. Daub chose an ensemble of light blue and wore a corsage to match the bride's.

During the signing of the register Miss Amy Tuttle sang, "I'll Walk Beside You."

Following the ceremony a reception for members of the family and a few close friends was held at the home of the bride's parents at Mossleigh.

A three-tiered wedding cake centred the bride's table, and a dainty buffet lunch was served. A

Moisture Conditions Excellent During Past Three Months

A precipitation report received on Monday from Alex Hindle of the Searle Grain Co., provides some interesting figures.

From June 23 to June 30 this district received 2.10 inches of rain, which brings the total for the growing season from April 1 to June 30 of this year to 7.02 inches. This can be considered as a fair average for the district, although with the many scattered showers of the past few weeks some parts of the district have received more rain and other parts less.

This figure of 7.02 inches, as of Monday of this week, compares favorably to the long-time average for Vulcan of 6.95 inches. Total rainfall for the same period last year was 7.31 inches, but it is the general opinion that there is a greater reserve of moisture in the land at present than at the same time last year, as rains this spring have been steadier and more apt to soak into the land and the heavy snows of last winter provided good subsoil moisture this spring. Generally speaking, moisture conditions have never been better than at the present time.

Wheat is standing out very heavy and favorable weather conditions would likely allow a better than average crop to be harvested.

Miss Eileen Speer Wed at Banff

At an early afternoon ceremony solemnized in the United Memorial church at Banff, June 14, nuptial vows were exchanged between Eileen Frances Speer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Speer of Vulcan, and William S. Steer, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Steer, of Calgary. Rev. R. E. Pow read the marriage service before an altar banked with bouquets of spring flowers and fern.

Given in marriage by the groom's cousin, Sydney Prynn, the bride was attired in a gray pin-striped suit with white hat and blouse, and snakeskin accessories. Her corsage was of Pincel roses. Attending the bride as matron of honor, Mrs. Charles Steer chose a turquoise blue suit complemented with black hat and accessories, with gardenias composing her corsage.

Charles Steer attended his brother as groomsmen.

The following evening a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents in Calgary, where pink and white streamers were used to decorate the bride's table which was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake and bouquets of mixed blossoms.

Assisting the bridal couple to receive were the bride's mother, attired in a frock of pale yellow figured sheer, worn with white accessories.

Mrs. J. Williamson and Mrs. S. Steer assisted in serving the wedding guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Steer spent their honeymoon in Banff, and will take up residence in Calgary.

Silver Wedding Anniversary Is Celebrated

Mrs. Merle Smith and Mrs. Geo. Pearce were joint hostesses June 23rd, at a surprise party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith, on the occasion of their silver wedding anniversary. Some 55 relatives and friends of the honored couple gathered at the Merle Smith home. The house was gaily decorated for the occasion. On arrival the charming bride of a quarter of a century ago was presented with a corsage of roses and the groom with a boutonniere.

A dinner was served by the hostesses at 1 o'clock, for the family and a few close friends. The table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake, flanked by bouquets of roses. Pink and white tapers were lighted throughout the dinner. A toast was proposed to the happy couple by Mr. George Pearce and responded to by Mr. Smith.

While still seated at the table the groom of 25 years ago presented the bride with a beautiful diamond ring, and she in turn presented him with a lovely ring.

After cutting of the wedding cake the honored couple were lead to a gaily decorated seat under an arch of pink and white streamers. Here they were presented with a gaily decorated basket by their sons, Virgil and Jack and Merle, on behalf of those assembled, presented his parents with the lovely gifts and wished them many more years of happiness. After the presents had been viewed by all, Mr. and Mrs. Smith very suitably expressed their thanks and invited everyone to visit them.

One of the thrills of the afternoon was Jack Smith circling low over the house during the festivities, in a plane from the local flying club.

"Open House" was held during the afternoon and evening, when many friends of the happy couple called to wish them continued happiness. A dainty lunch and tea was served by the hostesses. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Dave McDonald and Mrs. M. McIntyre, Turner Valley, and Mrs. Jane Matlock, Black Diamond.

The "Busy Beavers" of grades 5 and 6 of the Vulcan school made an autographed quilt this spring and raffled it off on June 21, the winner being Mr. Gonyea. The group has made about $70 this year for the Junior Red Cross and are now busy making 20 friendship boxes which will go to needy children in different parts of Europe. The children, who are to be congratulated on their worthwhile effort, wish to extend thanks to all those who have helped them.

THE GOOD HOME BODY

THE good home body may not launch out on any theories for the settlement of international affairs but she can harmonize all the jangling elements of her own household to bring peace. She may never be the life of the party but what warmth and cheer she creates in her own home. Her hair may not be exquisitely coiffed and curled, but there is something natural and reassuring in its very smoothness and the decisive little knot which ties it in. Her hands may not be manicured nor her nails brilliantly tinted, but how soothing and healing are those hands for the sick and suffering, and how strong is their friendly clasp.

Her exterior generally may be quite plain, but her interior is richly and beautifully furnished. She may not be a big ballroom attraction, but she is very satisfying as a long term companion. She does not consider her own personal problems worth broadcasting, but she has endless patience with those who consider themselves to be the most fascinating topic of conversation. She has no ambition to be as young as her daughters, but accepts her years with unconscious dignity.

The language of psychology is to her a closed book but she can interpret and disarm every mood and phobia of her family. She is not a brilliant talker but her silences are restful. She may not be able to conduct a meeting nor deliver an address, but her meals provide an inspiration of their own. She passes unnoticed in a crowd, but she is the strength and foundation of her home.

Her children reproach her for being behind the times, but she laughs it off and goes blithely ahead instilling her old fashioned principles of honor and honesty and fidelity.

There are still quite a number of good home bodies round and about. They do not appear to collect many dividends for themselves, but they seem happy and within their own little circle they shed a lovely light.

PIONEERS CO-OPERATED

(Country Life in B.C.)

EVERY pioneer in early Canadian days had to be able to pull himself up by his bootstraps because otherwise he and his family would not have survived. A man had to be strong and self-reliant if he was to overcome the handicaps that Nature imposed as the price of production of food and fiber and in this accomplishment, his wife was his full partner.

These pioneers were not rugged individualists, as some persons are fond of listing them. They were rugged co-operators. They banded together whenever the need arose. Their "bees" were numerous and constructive. They would "hold a bee" whenever there seemed to be a fair reason and the reason did not have to be so very substantial because these "bees" were their reunions and neighborly festivals. They would cut, peel and mortise the logs and throw up a stout, weather-resisting home in marvelously quick time with a chosen foreman, who was also master of ceremonies, inspector and cheer leader. Or it might be a stump fence's erection, or a land clearing with a fleet of stoneboats, or any one of a score of jobs that would have taken one man months but that took a "bee" only a day or two.

Actually the early upbuilding of Canada by a population, predominantly agrarian, was dependent on co-operation. There was a constant exchange of work and commodities between the farm homes.

No one worried over marketing of products because almost all the farmer's business was done on a barter basis. He "traded in" with the merchant for sugar, tea, a piece of cloth and the afore-mentioned boots and took a side of beef to the family doctor in payment for services.

It was only when the farmer had to buy for cash and sell for cash that the basic co-operation was disrupted, to the pain and injury of agriculture. He was subjected to forces over which he had no control—forces that compelled him to sell at prices in which he had no voice and to buy at prices in which he had no voice.

The Dominion Natural Products Marketing Act, that the Federation of Agriculture has placed in the hands of the Dominion government, will bring about that reform that will give the farmer a measure of control over the prices at which the food and fiber that he has produced, shall be sold. It will ensure a revival of the pioneer's co-operation, stream-lined to meet modern conditions.

Henry Wallace would run away with them in his third party chariot, a result displeasing, no doubt, to Republicans as well as Democrats.

A wave of strikes, especially among coal miners, followed. This was intended as a demonstration against the bill whereas it was a clear demonstration that even further curbs are necessary to keep wild men in their place. Suppose the vote in Congress had gone the other way and operators had started a wave of lockouts, what would union leaders have said? They would have declared it an act of treason and rebellion against the state. And they would be right.

Soviet use of the word, democracy is liable to debasement; but its use of "reactionary" to stigmatize its enemies is liable to give the word respectability.

Mr. Bevin warns Moscow that the days of appeasement are nigh spent but it was not the Russians he had to appease, but the hundred or more members of his own party who rebelled against what they called his "get tough" attitude toward Moscow. Most of them have capitulated, perhaps afraid their constituents might get tough with them.

R. H. Crossman, M.P. who left left-wing insurgents against the government admits now that Bevin was right and Russia wrong. It would be expecting too much of an advanced liberal such as he to admit that he was wrong himself and led others wrongly. Any man who has been duped by the Soviets since they joined hands with Hitler has no license to lead anyone. If he were honest he would say when asked his opinion on any public question: "Don't ask me. I was fool enough to fall for Stalin."

It was not for nothing that Churchill a short time ago proposed putting the word "conceited" in a resolution condemning the Socialist government. Since coming into power some Ministers have learned enough to take some of the conceit out of them, but the word is still applicable to a few Ministers and all their left wing followers. When the world comes to its senses, it will write them and all like them down as "flanneled fools and muddled oafs" or downright copperheads.

Was there anyone simple enough to fear that Russia would reject the Anglo-French invitation to meet and discuss the Marshall plan for economic aid to Europe? Is there anyone simple enough to expect satisfactory results from the conference? If there is, it must be someone who has forgotten what the long-range aims of communists are and what the illicit use they have already made of Anglo-American proposals and conferences. They can still waste other people's time to their own profit, and this they will now proceed to do.

They were talking about Moscow's refusal to allow the Canadian envoys wife to come to Canada. One said "Why should we have an envoy there anyway?" The other, whose racial origin is not disclosed, dissented. Said he, "If we did not have an envoy there, sure and how could we know that his wife was detained?"

R. B. Bennett could claim that he had achieved most of his ambitious aims. There was a time when being Prime Minister of Canada was not one of them. I met him first in 1911 in Calgary. M. S. McCarthy was then M.P. for that city seat but had determined to retire. Mr. R. L. Borden was then making a tour of the West and was told that R. B. could win that seat. He asked me to see him which I did at his office. His answer was a decided negative. He had no doubt he could win the riding although admitting he was not as popular as McCarthy, but his ambition was to go to England and the House of Commons.

The Queen of England is considered the most photogenic woman in England, outside of movie people. Winston Churchill also is tops.

Alta. Protests Freight Boost

Farm Organizations Join in Charging Heavier Toll on West Than East. Will Discourage Livestock Production

Alberta organizations have presented their case before the Board of Transport Commissioners, protesting the proposed 30 cent increase in freight rates. Premier Manning, on behalf of the province said they should be lowered instead of raised. He said Alberta was at the pinnacle of Canada's freight rate and the increase asked would aggravate disparity. Until present inequities are removed, there is no hope of establishing a satisfactory freight structure. He said that in Ontario and Quebec the railways had been compelled to reduce freight rates because of competition and might find themselves unable to carry out their proposed boost in those areas. But on the prairies, where there is an absence of similar competition, the increases would be imposed to the full, although this area already pays the highest freight charges in Canada.

The railway proposal, he said, would reduce net income of primary producers by millions annually and would add costs to the consumer goods coming in.

Farm organizations also made their protest. The U.F.A. pointed out that national policy had forced railway development east and west, and tariffs prevented the movement of goods north and south across the boundary. "If national circumstances require such conditions," said the brief "western farmers may properly expect other parts of Canada or the nation as a whole to carry part of the cost of railway development and operation. Alberta farmers are good citizens but cannot be expected permanently to pay such a price for citizenship."

The U.F.A. forecast that livestock production would be discouraged and many forced to grain production which would eventually impoverish the land.

The Alberta Co-operative Vegetable Growers declared that if freight tariffs went up as proposed, it would mean that the cost of shipping a car of potatoes from Lethbridge to Winnipeg would go from $250 to $325.

The Edmonton Livestock producers said the increase might lead to restriction in development of the Alberta livestock industry.

Bow Valley Offers Scholarships

A new salary schedule, effective Sept. 1st, 1947, was authorized by the Board of Trustees of the Bow Valley School Division at a special session held recently with the bargaining agent of the Local Alberta Teachers Association. The schedule calls for a minimum salary of $1300 with allowances for qualifications at the rate of $50 per university course. An allowance of $100 per year is also granted for experience whether inside or outside the Division. Principals receive $75 per room for supervision duties. Special clause also permits an allowance in recognition of heavy teaching loads or other special duties required of a teacher.

At a previous session the Board approved the rules and regulations drawn up in connection with the two $300 scholarships offered to properly qualified candidates who intend to take the One-year Teacher Training Course and guarantee to teach in the Bow Valley School Division for a period of three years after graduation. Prospective teachers who qualify and who wish to take advantage of the scholarships should communicate with the Divisional Secretary at the earliest date. High School principals also have complete information.

The report of the committee investigating tuition fees of Bow Valley students attending the Dana School in Standard was accepted. Satisfactory arrangements have now been made for such attendance during the coming academic year.

Free Medical Service Outlined

Alberta Dept. of Health Makes Effective the Services Available to Pensioners, Mothers' Allowance Recipients.

All Old Age Pensioners, Blind pensioners and recipients of Mothers' allowance have received a pink card which gives authorization for free medical and dental services. The card, properly signed, must be presented to the proper authorities in order that free service may be available.

In the event of sickness, where medical services are required, the card is presented to the physician who will provide the necessary treatment.

In hospitalization, the provision is for public ward accommodation, at the nearest hospital centre, and includes drugs, dressings, X rays and orthopedic appliances as recommended by the physician. Cases of urgent necessity may be admitted directly. Other cases may be admitted on recommendation of the physician with approval of the Dept. of Public Health, Administration Building, Edmonton.

Cases, other than those of urgent necessity, requiring service not available in the local hospital, may be provided for in some other hospital on recommendation of the physician and approval of Dept. of Public Health.

The card, when presented to the local dentist entitles the bearer and dependents, to complete dental services with the exception of new denture.

Optical services may be provided on recommendation of the physician with approval of the Dept. of Public Health.

Drugs are provided free only while the patient is in hospital. Dependents of Pensioners are also included in the services above mentioned.

Further information from Dr. Cross, Minister of Health is that the Department of Health made an agreement with the Alberta Medical Association for doctors to provide all medical, surgical, obstetrical and specialist service available in the province to Old Age Pensioners, Blind Pensioners, Mothers' Allowance recipients and their dependents. The cost to the government was set at $10 per capita for a 12 month period, the Medical Association to administer the work. The government pays the Association a lump sum each month equal to one-twelfth of $10 for each person entitled to these services for the month. The Association is responsible for distribution to members in proportion to the service given by each member.

A similar arrangement has been made with the Dental Association at cost of $3.15 per capita for a 12 month period.

The agreement with the Hospital Association stipulates government payment based on facilities the hospitals can provide. The per day payment ranges from $3.65 up to $5.10. The director of these services in the Dept. of Health is to pay each hospital direct for the number of days hospitalization provided each month.

Such special services as osteopathic, optometric, chiropractic, etc. are to be paid for direct from the Dept. on recommendation of the individual's physician and approval of the director.

Preventing Farm Accidents (An Exhibit)

We are pleased to announce that The North-West Line Elevators Association will be represented at most of the larger fairs in Western Canada this summer by an outstanding agricultural exhibit. The main theme of this year's exhibit is one of vital importance to every prairie farmer—"Accident Prevention on the Farm."

The main part of the exhibit portrays, by means of an attractive and instructive mechanically-operated scale model, the main causes of farm accidents. It includes a diagram of a farm house in cross-section, illustrating the more common fire and accident hazards in the home. This display will be of interest to every member of the family. Its chief aim is to help prevent farm accidents in Western Canada, and we have adopted as our motto, "Safety is Everybody's Business."

Although the central part of the exhibit deals with safety on the farm, the wing panels are used to show the important uses of those new and very promising agricultural chemicals "DDT" and "2, 4-D." New and authoritative publications dealing with these new chemicals will be available at the exhibit booth.

A member of the technical staff of Line Elevators Farm Service will accompany the exhibit. He will be prepared to provide information on crop production problems and agricultural subjects of interest to prairie farmers, and on the work of this Department. In other words, he will be "At Your Service."

Don't fail to visit the Association's exhibit at one of the following points: Moose Jaw, June 30-July 3; Lethbridge, July 4-5; Calgary, July 7-12; Yorkton, July 14-16; Melfort, July 17-19; Lloydminster, July 21-23; Vermilion, July 24-26; Vegreville, July 28-30; Red Deer, July 31-Aug. 2; North Battleford, Aug. 4-6; Prince Albert, Aug. 7-9.

Items From Bob Edwards' Inimitable "Eye Opener"

Bob Edwards in the High River Eye Opener of Sept. 16, 1903, takes a little fling at the spread of mange round High River, but he realizes local people are very sensitive. He gives some very sound advice on the proper care of the home library, and then swings off to spread scattered shot over the "baggy pant" method of conducting the windup of the Boer war.

High River Eye Opener
September 16, 1903
High River Locals

J. L. Bradley who sold out to Mr. Todd will build again. This town is certainly on the boom. Mr. Bradley is in the harness and saddlery business and a master of his trade.

Veterinary Inspector Hobbs has been in this burg looking after mangy cattle. We would like to say something about this mange, but have been given to understand that it is considered disloyal to High River to give expression to disagreeable truths.

A new political party composed entirely of boarders who do not like skimmed milk on their porridge should organize in the west. They could develop enough strength to forbid the serving of this most obnoxious fluid.

City people may envy the farmer but not to the extent that they take advantage of the continuous opportunity to be one. Picture the horror with which the intelligent and sympathetic city population received word that there was a serious shortage in binder twine.

Taking Care of Your Books

The following helpful hints should be hung in every library and memorized in every home.

Never cut bread on a valuable book. It is liable to injure the binding.

Never use spectacles or false teeth as a bookmark. You won't remember where you left them, and besides it isn't good for the book.

Never cut the leaves of a book with a carving knife unless you have first wiped the blade.

Never turn leaves with your thumb. A pair of small tongs such as come in candy boxes is the most convenient and sanitary way.

Never put a hot iron on an open book. It tends to burn.

Never throw a book at the cook. It injures the corners and delays dinner.

Never set a very young baby on an open book. It is apt to blur the print.

Now the Boer War

We are going to hazard an explanation of the humiliating succession of traps into which the English-officered troops have been led by the Boers. Do you remember the English toffs of good family, called remittance men, who used to cut such a swath in this country some eight or ten years ago. They used to hang round the Albertan hotel in Calgary clad in fantastic garb. Most of them were young gentlemen who had failed to make the army. Well, a large proportion of officers in the field today are similarly raised on quite a lofty social plane. But by the aid of good crammers they managed to wiggle through the exams in which the others failed.

We know that these remittance men who abounded out here were impractical, helpless, utterly unfitted to cope with any difficulty except that of wangling extra remittance from the governor at home. It wouldn't be any fun for a Tommy out in South Africa to have his life placed at the mercy of these brandy-and-soda swells. Think what a snap they'd be for the Boers. It is good to note that the Englishmen we are getting in these parts now seem to be of stronger calibre, able to hold their own. But the old type hasn't been doing so well with the Boers.

With a certain class of highbred Englishman there is only the twinkle of a star between the glory of a well-wined mess with its aristocratic glamor and bottle-nosed colonel, and a lonesome shack on the prairie. A slip in a sum in algebra may make the difference.

The British government got zewn up on a South African horse deal for millions of dollars. Too much haw-haw and baggy pants.

Those impracticable old frumps at the war office would reject a man with the military genius of a DeWet if he were unable to expound the fifth proposition in Euclid, or was unversed in Greek.
